Commercial Space Operators To Canada: "We're Here, and We can Help"
By Staff Writers for SatCom Frontier
Mississauga, ON (SP) Apr 13, 2017

Canada is attempting, for the second time, to kick off a project that would put satellites into the Arctic to improve communications for its military and federal departments. But while Canada looks to its neighbors to help foot the bill, the country could save significant time and money by taking a look at what's available from the commercial satellite industry.

Under a previous government, Canada's National Front smooth, the Canadian Space
